HAVE YOU TRIED JURUBEBA

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid at any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It has no alcoholic appetizer which stimulates for a short time, only to cast the sufferer into a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and ween.

It regulates the Bowel, quiets the nerves and gives such a healthful tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked ills, but gradually all troubles "fade away," like the Ashes, And silently steal away."

This is no hasty and untried discovery, but has been used with wonderful results, and With wonderful remedial powers pronounced by the highest medical and other authorities "the most powerful tonic and alterative known."

Scotch Farming.

[Correspondence Cincinnati Gazette.]

GLASGOW, October 2.

When on a visit to the city lately, I was induced to spend a few weeks, on the invitation of a friend, at the pleasant little village of Ballantræ, Ayrshire, I had some difficulty in making up my mind as to the visit, as I understood there were only fishers and farmers in these parts. I was afraid I would have met with distress, misery and starvation on every hand, having imbibed the notion that the farmer in that God-forsaken country were so oppressed by the rapacity of the landlords and the "rack rents" they had to pay for the farms they could never call their own, that they could not afford themselves a meal of meat worth eating, and fresh meat they never saw from one year's end to another. Such and much more of the same kind, profusely furnished by "special" to the American papers, made me anxious to interview one or two of these poor farmers, who do not own one foot of real estate in the country. In case any of your country readers may be inclined to question the statements and accuracy of the figures I here give, I can only say they were written down from the farmer's own lips. His name is Mr. McCulloch, Laggan, Ballantræ, Ayrshire. His is only an average Ayrshire farm. There are many larger and better farms than his in Scotland, and some not so good, but it is a good specimen of a Scotch farm it's home. Mr. McCulloch's farm consists of 500 acres (imperial); he holds it on nineteen years' lease; he pays for rent per annum $3,500 (I shall put the sum in gold dollars, as being perhaps better understood by your country friends), or about $7 50 per acre; the taxes, of rates, on the whole farm is about $300 or say $1 50 per acre—so that both rent and taxes together come to about $9 per acre; he can bring out of that acre thirty-five bushels of wheat, for which he gets $2 a bushel, or $70; in potatoes he will bring in an average year $120 per acre, and a second crop the same year of turnips is worth $50. So there is from $70 to $170 taken out of an acre of ground, for which he pays as rent and taxes only $9, but, of course, the price of seed, manuring and labor must come out of the produce, and every farmer many have an idea of what that costs.

He keeps on his farm twelve horses and has twelve men hired all the year round—one man for every horse. The horses average $300 in price each; the men pay wages of $25 a month, with one years' engagement. During summer and harvest, when extra men, women and children are engaged, he has a great deal of extra wages to pay, of course. Every acre of the land is arable, and the improved system of agriculture is carried out to its full extent; besides all this he has on the same farm eighty-three cows of the best Ayrshire breed, of course, and which are worth $100 each; the produce of those cows is made int cheese. The farmers themselves no not generally make the cheese; they have a curious custom of letting out the cows to third parties for the purpose, and which is called "Bowing." The farmer agrees with the "Bower" to give him the use of the cows, the farmer providing the feed, and also furnishing barns, stables, cheese factory and machinery, and dwelling house, and byre for the cattle free to the bower. The latter has to attend to them, get them milked at his own cost, and make the cheese. He also gets all the calves over and above some nine or ten that are retained to keep up the stock. They can also fatten as many hogs as they choose off the refuse of the cheese making. The rent he pays for all that to the farmer is 408 pounds of cheese per annum for each cow, or 19½ stone of 24 pounds to the stone. The bower gets all the cheese he can make over and above that amount. They allow that a cow will produce three gallons of milk per day, and that a gallon of milk will make one pound of cheese.

I visited the bower's establishment, and found it all in first class condition—factory, machinery, and byres (stable) etc. The cattle are comfortably housed. Their stables are heated by steam, through pipes running around the walls, and their food is regularly cooked for them during the winter. So that is a good arrangement all around. The farmer has a good return for his outlay without any trouble to him. The bower has the profit of a great herd of cattle without having to purchase them, and he really makes a first-rate thing of it. From the great number of prizes they have carried away at fairs, in the shape of gold and silver medals, diamond rings, and gold watches is evidence that the Laggan bower and his good lady know how to make good cheese, and do it, too.

Allowing the foregoing figures to be correct, and I believe they are so, as I have verified them from other places than the Laggan bowers, I find that one cow will produce in nine months, allowing three as unproductive, which is too much, 664 pounds cheese; the farmer gets 460 pounds valued at 12 cents per pound, would give him about $60 a cow, while the bower would have over and above his other requisites—204 pounds or about $25 per cow. Such is the position a Scotch farmer holds, and the very unlikely chance there is of his starving. Indeed, I believe, as I have been told that he clears off his farm about $7,000 a year above all expenses. Of course, farming here is a highly scientific pursuit; neither he, nor his wife, nor his children have to labor, but they can live as well as any city magnates. When told that farmers in America who own the farms they occupy have to work harder than a hired man, and their wife and daughters have to work harder than any negro slave ever did to keep things going, they are struck with amazement. When told that the farmers of Ohio can not take out of their ground more than fifteen bushels of wheat per acre, out of a rich new soil, they do not know what to think of it. They are inclined to attr bute it more to laziness than to ignorance. They depend more than they ought to on their toy machinery as labor-saving, which they call a help to laziness, and that they have improved their machinery so much that they have to put up with twelve bushels, when, with proper farming, they should have at least forty bushels. A few more improvements and they will have nothing left to use their toy-plows on.

On inquiring why they do not go to America, where a great estate could be bought for one year's rent, the answer they give is such as one of your great dry goods merchants would give if you would ask him, why pay say $5,000 rent for a store on Fourth street, when he could get a much larger place in Cumminsville or Finiston. He would be apt to tell you that he could make money at the dear store, but would starve at the cheap one, which was sure to be the dearest one in the end. It is not likely that a good hard-headed Scotch farmer would quit a farm, where he can get $150 per acre from it, and which cost him only $9, to go to America and get a farm, say, for nothing, and from which he cannot get more than $12. In conclusion, I may say that farmers or others can get plenty of land to buy if they choose to. It is bought generally at about twenty years purchase—that is, twenty years rent is the value of the ground. If they borrow money on their property, they can get it at from four to five per cent. They do not borrow much—farmers are not often on the bankrupt list—and no such thing is ever seen as whole columns of the paper taken up with the notices of "delinquent tax papers." I will return to this subject again.

THE ELECTIONS.

THE VERY LATEST RETURNS!

CARTERSVILLE, Nov. 3, 12 M. Election lively but peaceable. About 600 votes have been polled, at least 550 of which are for Felton, the balance for Dabney. This is a correct statement.

C.

MARIETTA, Nov 3, 12:20 M. About 800 votes have been polled—fully two-thirds for Felton.

Y.

CALHOUN, November 3—11:15 A. M. One hundred and ninety-five votes polled. Only seventeen for Felton.

W.

DALTON, November 3—11:15 A. M. Three hundred and twenty-five votes polled. About three-fourths of them for Dabney. Gordon done us much good in his speech last night.

R.

RINGGOLD, Nov. 3—11:15 A. M. Seventy-five votes polled in town. Dabney 72, Felton 3. Heard nothing from the other precincts.

C.

KINGSTON, Nov. 3—11:30 A. M. Ninety votes polled. Three-fourths for Felton.

R.

ACWORTH, Nov. 3. One hundred and seventy votes polled. Dabney is about fifteen votes ahead.

W.

The news from the seventh is exciting, but slightly in favor of Dabney. We are receiving specials every hour.

LOUISIANA.

Good News—The Vote Very Close.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

NEW ORLEANS, November 3.—No returns have yet been received of the city election, but enough is known to warrant the statement that the conservatives have certainly not less than 10,000, and possibly 15,000 majority.

Reports from the parishes are meagre, but show considerable gains over the vote of 1872.

The indications are that the vote in the state will be close. The conservatives claim 4 congressmen, but the republicans only admit the loss of one.

No disturbance is reported from any quarter.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—It is whispered that the high officials have dispatched that Louisiana is lost, by 14,000, and that the conservatives have elected four members to congress.

NEW YORK.

"Voting Early," and Often, Too.

A Pitched Battle.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

NEW YORK, November 3.—The weather is splendid. Voting commenced early this morning.

There was a row this morning in the 21st ward, between Coroner Richard Croker and ex Sheriff O'Brien, who is a candidate for congressman in opposition to Hewitt, the Tammany nominee, both backed by friends. During the fight, one of O'Brien's gang shot and killed a Croker man. Police reinforcements have gone to the spot. A feud has long existed between O'Brien and Croker for the ascendancy in the 21st ward, the latter being a Tammany man.

Alabama.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

MONTGOMERY, November 3.—Immense vote is being quietly polled. Many colored people vote open conservative ticket. Two fires this morning. Both are still burning.

STILL LATER.

Massachusetts.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., November 3.—The election has awakened extraordinary interest, and the vote is nearly as heavy as in the presidential election in 1872. 700 new voters have been made in this city, and as four-fifths of them are democrats, a majority of 1,000 for Gaston may be expected in Springfield. A good many republicans are voting against Alexander, the republican nominee for congress in the 18th district, but the entire grange influence of Hamden and Berkshire counties is thrown in his favor.

Pennsylvania.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The election is progressing very quietly, entirely barren of excitement. Under the new election law, the polling precincts number over one hundred, and there being no hourly announcement of the state poll, nothing can be known to base any calculation upon until the polls are closed this evening. There is much scratching, and Mann, republican candidate for district attorney, is the sufferer from bitter hostilities to him made by democratic reformers.

The Election.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

WASHINGTON, November 3.—The Western Union Telegraph Co. accords its usual election hours. Feeling in republican circles shows no improvement. The best cyphering shows two or three majority on either side. In this count the conservatives discount all doubtful, southern districts and, basing their hopes upon possible, and in the main upon probable, gains in the north.

Alabama.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 3.—Negro women dressed as men voted the radical ticket at Huntsville. They were jailed.

The negroes are rejoicing over the two destructive fires here this morning.

Foreign News.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

LONDON, November 3.—The Carlists report four batteries and sixteen guns before Irun. The bombardment will commence immediately.

NEW YORK, November 3.—A special to the Herald reports that three Cubans have arrived at Don Carlos' headquarters with a proposition that the prisoners of either side be released for purpose of suppressing the Cuban insurrection. Don Carlos is willing to release the prisoners, but un willing that his volunteers shall go to Cuba on compulsion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Peruvian senate has ratified a treaty with China.

The bill allowing Jesuits to settle in Peru was rejected without debate.

The new Haytien constitution prohibits foreigners holding immovable properties. Losses from political disturbances, either by foreigners or citizens, can only be recovered through the courts from persons inflicting losses.

Dead.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

LOUISVILLE, November 3.—Information was received here to-day by the family of Hon. E. Rumsey, United States minister at Equador, announcing his death at Queto, October 18th.

Forests Burning.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

WHEELING, November 31.—The forests are burning on the line of the Panhandle and Central railroads.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

The Influence of Mind Over Matter—A Wife Preserved from Violence by a Bed-Ridden Husband.

Minguat Valley, N. Y., (Oct. 26) Correspondence of the New York Herald.

On Saturday last, an itinerant peddler entered the house of James Tolin, living near this place, and proceeded to display his wares to Mrs. Tolin, despite her assertions that she did not wish to buy anything. Mr. Tolin was confined to his bed and so crippled with rheumatism that it had been long impossible for him to leave his bed, unless carried from it. After showing his goods, and Mrs. Tolin not buying anything, the peddler commenced a conversation, in the course of which he learned the helpless condition of Mr. Tolin. Finally, he made an insulting proposal to Mrs. Tolin, and she indignantly ordered him to leave the house. Instead, he approached her and seized hold of her, saying, with an oath, that she was in his power, as her husband was as good as dead. Mrs. Tolin, being a delicate woman, ran screaming into another room. The peddler followed her, and, before she could escape by another door, caught her again. A desperat struggle ensued between them, and Mrs. Tolin was thrown violently to the floor by the desperate villain. Mr. Tolin had been all the time a witness to the struggle, lying powerless in his bed. At the sound of his wife falling on the floor, however, and her frantic shrieks for aid, he seemed to be endowed with supernatural power. Under the influence of that power he sprang from the bed he had been unable to leave for years. Seizing a heavy crutch that stood near the bed, he rushed into the room where the struggle was going on. Mrs. Tolin had succeeded in regaining her feet, but the peddler had grasped her around the waist, and was endeavoring again to throw her. As Mr. Tolin entered the room the singular spectacle of a bed-ridded cripple hastening to the defense of his wife seemed to paralyze the scoundrel, and he stood staring as if in a trance at the approach of the husband. Mr. Tolin, nerved by unnatural strength, brought the crutch down over the head of the peddler, and felled him like an ox to the floor. The next instant the excitement and superhuman effort that had supported the husband left him. With a shriek that told of the intense agony of the relapse, he clasped his hand to his forehead and dropped to the floor and almost instantly expired.

Mrs. Tolin succeeded in getting the body of her husband back in the bed, and then started for assistance. She was obliged to go over a mile before she was able to obtain any. When she returned with several neighbors, the peddler was gone. He had recovered consciousness and fled, leaving his pack in the house. When the news of the attempted outrage and the tragic death of Mr. Tolin spread throughout the neighborhood, the most intense excitement prevailed. Squads of men started in every direction searching for the peddler, but as yet he has not been found. In the present feeling, if he falls into the hands of the populace, that he will be lynched there is not the slightest doubt.

Fashionable Indecencies.

A fashion writer in the Hornet says: "When the skirt is made up, be sure and have it made perfectly tight-fitting all round, as overdresses are being made so extremely tight that the least possible space is left for underskirts. It is fortunate that there are no gutters now in the Paris streets, or we should be scarcely able to step over them. Where this tightening mania will stop, I cannot tell. In the meantime, ladies present rather a curious effect with all the dresses tied so tightly back, and the trains of their skirt gone to the spot. A feud has long existed between O'Brien and Croker for the ascendancy in the 21st ward, the latter being a Tammany man. Madame la Mode' they say. 'Nay, she could never have been a respectable married woman, or she would not have invented this fourreau furieux!" There is another reason for this non-observance of fashion for ladies' modesty. La mode has changed sex. It is no longer 'madame,' but 'monsieur,' who rules the wardrobe, and that is no doubt why these occasional inconsistencies occur. He will tell you that he tries the effect of his fashions on molded figures of irreproachable beauty and symmetry and taut pis for those whose figures are not equally modeled. That is not his fault. If he could, he would have all women beautiful and sans peur before his fashions. But, as he cannot do that, he invents his fashions for the lovely in shape and form, and we cannot blame him too severely, however much we may pity the sorrows of the suffering few who complain. Patience, ladies; you have had your time while crinoline and puffings lasted. Then well-made ladies used to complain that all women looked alike—the ill and fairly shaped were equally faultless to the eye. But, now that the classic Grecian reign has once more stepped in, fine figures rejoice. Chacun a son tour. In this, fashion is fair; for, ever charging, she is sure to please all in turns, though not en masse."

The President as a Deadhead.

[From the Johnson(Mo.)Weekly Democrat.]

Not only does the illustrious deadhead who is president of the United States accept free passes from all the rail roads in the country, and ride in extra cars and special trains, but also deadbeats his way at hotels. He left St. Louis the other day without settling his little bill of $500 at the Lindell hotel. He does not miss a meal or pay a cent.

BREVITIES.

—A western paper announces the death of a lady celebrated for the "purity of her character and complexion."

—A child for adoption, to be born in November, is advertised in a New York newspaper. Sex not stated. Such enterprise "can go on father."

—The manufacturing of watches in this country employs a capital of nearly $5,000,000, the number of watches made annually being about 2,000,000.

—One writer has compared Clara Morris to a volcano, and another to the aurora borealis. Because, we suppose, she is so true to mother nature.

—All of the Baptist Theological seminaries have large entering classes—Newton, Hamilton, Rochester, Chicago, Crozier. Rochester has about 90 students.

—"Please, mister, my father's dead and my mother's runned away, and would ye let me and my sister suck cider through a straw out of that 'ere barrel o' yourn?"

—The secret of Chicago's complacency over her desertion by the fire insurance companies may be traced to the fact that a y of her girls could stamp out the next great conflagration that comes along. Danbury News.

—Somebody has written a book entitled, "What Shall My Son Be?" Upon which some one else frankly replies: "If the boy is as bad as the book, the chances are that he will be hanged."

—At Neuilly, in the suburbs of Paris, there is a harem, which the police have inquired into and—left alone. It is in the house of a Turk. He has 160 wives, but keeps the mass of them at Constantinople, and only brings twelve to Paris at a time.

—When Charles Chaffin retired from the Holden (Mass.) postmastership, forty years ago, he left a balance of $20 due him from the department at Washington. He never called for the money, and now, after a generation has passed away, he has just received the money per check from Washington.

—Lake Erie is only 60 to 70 feet deep, but Lake Ontario, which is 502 feet deep, is 230 feet below the tide level of the ocean, or as low as most parts of the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and the bottoms of Lake Huron, Michigan and Superior, although the service is much higher, are all, from their vast depths, on a level with the bottom of Ontario.

—A teacher, questioning little boys about the graduation in the scale of being, asked, "What comes next to man?" whereupon a little shaver, who was evidently smarting under a sense of previous defeat, immediately distanced all competitors by promptly shouting, "His shirt, ma'am!"

—"Ma, what is lanker?" inquired a bright little child yesterday.

"I'm sure I don't know, my son. Where did you hear the word?"

"Why at Sunday school, you know they sing,

"We'll stand the storm—it won't be long;
We'll lanker by and by."

—Charlotte Cushman is upwards of sixty, and has been a "star" nearly forty years. As the time for her last appearances at Booth's theater approaches, orders for seats are on the increase, and the theater, which ho'ds 3,000 people, will be crowded on the occasion. Tickets are selling at $1 for standing room, and $2 for chairs.

—Gallantry—Maiden aunt (remonstrating with Dublin street Arab): "Don't you know, sir, it's very dangerous to throw stones? That one very nearly hit me, sir! And supposing it had put my eye out, and blinded me, what would you have done then?" Street boy: "Sure, I'd have married yer, av coorse;"

—A man about two-thirds drunk, and his back covered with mud, stopped a policeman on the street and asked to be locked up. "Why, you are able to walk home, aren't you?" asked the officer. "Yes, I could get home all right, but I don't want to, and you wouldn't if you had my wife! Take me down, ole feller, and if she comes inquiring 'round just say I've gone to Tiedo on 'portant business."—Detroit Free Press.

—According to the Natchez Democrat a dismissed colored grand juryman solilo-quized: "I don't understand dis business. Looks to me like natural for a man what's in trouble to git his friends on de grand jury if he kin. I recun if de old judge hisself was in a tight place and had to go 'fore de grand jury he'd be mighty glad to have his friends on dar."

—Dr. Hall of the United States coast survey has, upon his return from an expedition to the Arctic regions through Behring's Straits told the San Francisco academy of sciences of the sublimity of the scenery around Mount St. Elias. That mountain, he says, proves by accurate observation to be the highest in North America, its altitude being nineteen thousand feet. It is not a volcanic cone, as the geographies generally say, although there are volcanic vents on its sides.

—Sothern has personated Lord Dundreary over 3,000 times in England and the public enjoyment of it is in no wise abated. The Haymarket theater, London, was recently crammed to its utmost capacity to witness the absurd character, and when Drundreary prosecuted his courtship by asking the object of his affections, "if she could wag her left ear," it knocked dignity sky high with the Duke and Duchess of Edinburg, who were present and were convulsed with laughter.

—A story is told of a San Francisco woman who was in the habit of receiving frequent castigations at the hands of her husband, and when one day read the bible story of Samson and Delilah. When next her consort was prone in sleep she sheared him so completely that every spear of his hair disappeared from face and head. Rousing from his slumber like a giant refreshed, he speedily comprehended the situation, and reached for her. Such a caressing as she then received she never dreamed of before. She did not even have the usual grip on him. He was fined, but she declared her utter disbelief in those bible yarns.

—Three mariners appeared at the Portland, Maine, custom house the other day, and requested to have the register of the schooner changed so as to hail from Portland. On being informed that it could not be done, as from their papers they belonged in Gloucester, Mass., they stoutly declared they did not belong anywhere, except on the high seas; that for the past twenty-one years they had lived aboard their vessel, only landing at times for provisions or stores; had paid no taxes and had not voted; that twenty-one years ago, when in Quebec, an attempt was made to make them pay taxes, and the matter went to Washington, but resulted in their getting off free. The matter remains under advisement.

—Information has been received here that the following named persons accompany his majesty the King of the Hawaiian islands, who is momentarily expected at San Francisco, in the United States steamer Benicia: Elisha H. Allen, chancellor and chief justice of the kingdom and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States; Gov. John O. Dominis, the king's brother-in-law, chief of staff and military governor of the island of Oahu; His Excellency Mr. Kapena, a nobleman of the kingdom and governor of the island of Mariu; Mr. H. A. P. Carter, the principal merchant and factor of Honolulu, and member of the privy council, attached and associate with Mr. Allen; the king's valet or body servant. The king and his suite, with Mr. Pierce, the United States minister, numbering seven in all, left Honolulu between the 10th and 15th of October.

The News from Louisiana.

The flood of glorious news from all points of the compass that is pouring in on us, is made thrice glorious by the intelligence of a conservative victory in Louisiana. In the light of the returns from this state, that is, or rather was, doubly cursed with bayonets and plunderers, with Merrill and Packard, the coup d'etat must be written down a magnificent stroke of wisdom and statesmanship. It kept the people of Louisiana from tame submission to the villainies and frauds of the men in power; it taught Kellogg and his emissaries a lesson that they have prudently heeded; it secured a fairer election than the state has ever known under reconstruction rule; and the prompt acceptance of the demands of the federal power aroused sympathy and investigation in their behalf at the north. All pra se, then, to Penn and the heroes of the revolution. To them belongs the laurels of the victory. But for that indignant and brilliant blow, which quickly drove the whole pack of thieves within the granite walls of the custom house to cower behind the bayonets of the oppressors, we would certainly not be able to chronicle this morning the sure redemption of another state.

At this writing the fullest particulars of the victory have not come to hand, but enough is known to warrant the statement that John C. Moncure has beaten the negro, Dubuclet, for treasurer, not less than 10,000 votes. This was the only state office balloted for. Charles J. Leeds has beaten Labutut for mayor of New Orleans; and the treasury and the city are thus placed in honest hands. The legislature will probably be close, but the best advices indicate conservative majorities in both branches. If this be true, the Penn revolution must be accounted the most successful effort against tyranny ever made by the people of a sovereign state. For with conservative majorities in the legislature, the government of Kellogg is practically abolished, and the objects of the revolution are to all intents and purposes accomplished facts.

The congressional delegation is of hardly less importance—less, perhaps, to the people of the plundered state, but of transcendant interest to the country at large. No gains were expected from Louisiana, because there was no assurance that an honest election could be secured. The present delegation does not include a democrat. The latest returns show that the party of reform, and law and order have elected not less than four members out of the delegation of six, and probably five. The only radical congressman who is certainly elected is C. B. Darrall, of the third district.

The people of Louisiana have won a noble victory. Let us give them rounds of cheers in our heart of hearts; and after each cheer there should be a groan for Grant and Williams and Merrill, and all who were engaged in the despicable scheme to re-enslave the people of Louisiana, for partizan and venial purposes.

The Result in Georgia.

At last Georgia is completely redeemed. A full democratic delegation is elected to the next congress. This is a result which will fill every Georgian's heart with pride and arouse the wildest rejoicing.

In this district we have elected Candler by an overwhelming majority. THE CONSTITUTION chronicles this success with a peculiar pleasure from the fact, that the two other dailies of this city virtually gave him no support.

The News refused to say a word for him, and the Herald was so lukewarm that its guasi support was a real injury. It did not even utter a word for him on the day of election. We appreciate the cordial congratulations of our friends on the glorious result.

Fulton county, too, has nobly redeemed herself. Despite the drawbacks alluded to, the county majority is not less than 2,000 A number of circulars were sent out from THE CONSTITUTION office yesterday to arouse the people. We had to issue two afternoon editions beside to appease the general desire for news, and to urge our people to the polls. All honor to Fulton county! It has wiped out the disgrace of the former election of a radical.

Elsewhere is a suggestion for a meeting of the citizens at the recorder's court room at four o'clock this afternoon to make arrangements for a grand torch light procession. If ever there was a time for a grand jubilee, it is this.

Cheap Transportation.

The governor yesterday addressed the following letter to Messrs. Nelson Tift, Albany; Robert Baugh, Chas. W. Fields, Jonathan Norcross, Walter H. Weems, Atlanta; P. M. B. Young, Cartersville; W P. Price, Dahlonega; M. Van Estes, Gainesville; A. M. Speer, Griffin; W. O. Tuggle, LaGrange; Clifford Anderson, L. N. Whittle, Macon; Lyman Compton, Milledgeville; Ed. Thomas, Oxford; James H. Hunter, Quitman; J. M. Elliot, B. W. Frobel, Daniel S. Printup, Rome; E. M. Rucker, Ruckersville; Henry Bryan, A. R. Lawton, Savannah; D. W. DuBose, Washington.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
ATLANTA, GA., November 3, 1874.

DEAR SIR: You have already been notified, through the public press, that the second annual convention of the "American cheap transportation association" will be held in Richmond, Va., on Tuesday, the first day of December next.

As one of the chief cotton producing states of the union, and a large consumer of western products, Georgia has a general interest in the subjects which will claim the attention of that body; while her relation to one of the proposed routes of communication, between the Atlantic and the great west, invests the deliberations of the convention with peculiar importance.

To being desirable that these great interests be properly represented in that convention, I have taken the liberty to appoint you a delegated thereto. Trusting that you may be able to serve the state in this capacity, I am, dear sir,

Yours respectfully,
JAMES M. SMITH.

Executive Department Notes.

Much business is daily transacted besides the ordinary routine work, which is not proper to make public at once if at all, such as requisitions and executive warrants for arrest of criminals, innumerable inquiries, a vast military correspondence, the affairs of railroads seized by the state, etc., etc.

Commissioned.—Officers of the Blue Ridge Mounted Infantry, Tunnel Hill, Whitfield county: T. N. Murray, captain; M. R. Wilson, first lieutenant; J. T. Fitzpatrick and H. Springfield, second lieutenants.

Stonewall Rifles, Waynesboro, Burke county, Thomas Burdell, captain; Robert O. Lovett, first lieutenant; Wesley Jones and W. H. Bohler, second lieutenants.

Wilkins Cavallers, Waynesboro', Burke county: J. Pinckney Thomas, captain; George W. Warnock, first lieutenant; T. J. McElmurry, and Homer V. Godbee, second lieutenants.

As members of boards of education: William S. Burnes, Johnson county; J. M. Spinks, Paulding county.

Ordered by the governor, that the offices of the executive department be closed after 12 o'clock M. to allow the various officials to vote at the congressional election.

The General Result.

The radicals experienced their Waterloo yesterday. As a party they are annihilated. When Massachusetts deserts their colors, and Louisiana throws off the chains of the usurpers, and New York rolls up immense majorities, and—but the list is long, and the whole strain is one of victory, and peace and a return to good government as fast as the constitution will permit. Revolutions never go backwards, and the dawn of a better day than the country has lately known, is fully ushered in. Moderation, patience and wisdom in the hour of victory are alone needed now. The outrage and repudiation mills have been run to their full capacities, but in vain. The people can no longer be bamboozled by such stuff.

At this hour it is impossible to sum up the results of the victory. The interest of the country specially centers in the gains of representatives for the forty-fourth congress. Previous elections had given us sixteen members, leaving thirty-five more to be secured in the elections of yesterday. Ten of this number have been unexpectedly gained in Louisiana and Massachusetts. The other twenty-two states have certainly elected enough democrats to place the next house of representatives in the hands of the democracy. This is glory enough for one day. Let us rest content with these general statements until the results of the numerous battles can be accurately stated.

THAT'S a good joke. The telegrams say that Mills will contest Candler's election. O dear!

A Torch Light Procession.

We are requested to say that the citizens of Atlanta are invited to meet at the Recorder's court room this afternoon at 4 o'clock, to arrange for a torch light procession.

The Report of Gen. Humphreys.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

WASHINGTON, November 3.—The following extracts, of interest to the south, are taken from the annual report of Gen. Humphreys, chief of engineers of the United States of America: The appropriations asked for were $15,000 for the improvement of St. John's river, Fla.; for the improvement of the Savannah river and harbor, $175,000, with the amount necessary to complete the improvements of the Savannah river is estimated at $356,320; for the improvement of the Charleston harbor, $10,000; for the improvement of the harbor at Mobile, $28,000; for the improvement of the harbor at Cedar Keys, Fla., $30,000; for the improvement of Chattahoochee and Flint rivers, Ga., $70,000; for the improvement of Apalachicola river, $20,000; for the improvement of Choctahachie river, Florida and Alabama, $10,000. In his annual report to the chief of engineers, Col. Gilmore refers to the fact that the people of Jacksonville, Fla., claim that when the railroad from that point to Pensacola and Mobile is finished, Jacksonville will become the great commercial emporium of that section from whence many thousand tons of freight will be re-shipped between New York and the great west and southwest. In view of which fact it is hoped that large sums of money will be appropriated by congress for the improvement of the mouth of St. John's river and other necessary works. The colonel does not seem to sympathize with the operations and aspirations of the people.

The natural and proper port for the shipment of all freight arriving in west Florida by either the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile, or the Florida railroad, and seeking ocean transportation in large vessels in Florida, and the inside passage should be enlarged to such a degree that the St. John's River boats and barges can deliver their cargo at this point in all cases when the shipment by small vessels arriving and departing by way of the St. John's bar, is deemed relatively disadvantageous. The public debt statement for October, shows a reduction of the debt for that month, $145,000.

The Sale of Steven's Battery.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

TRENTON, November 3.—The following are the bids made on the Steven's battery, which opened at Trenton yesterday. The first three bids were for the whole and the rest for parts. John Roach, $105 000; T. F. Houland of Green Point, $80,850. The navy department, conditional subject to the congressional approval, $140,000; A. Mackay of Boston, $50,000; P. P. Wigging of New York, $60,000; John Stewart, $38,400; P. S. Haflee of New York, in part, $45,000; Hoboken Manufacturing Co., $40,000; A. Pervis & Co., Philadelphia, $52,000. The length of the hull is 401 feet, breadth between perpindecular is 396 feet, breadth of the beam 45 feet, depth of the main deck 24½, draft 22 feet, displacement 9?0 tons. There have been over $200,000 spent on the battery. Mr. John Roach's bid will most probably be accepted as there was no provision for any conditional bids.

Rich Discoveries.

[By Telegraph to The Constitution.]

DENVER, Col., November 3.—News has just been received in this city of another very rich discovery in the Printer Boy gold mine, which has been located the past two years, to the great disadvantage of the owners, they having sunk $350,000 in the enterprise. A tunnel had been run one hundred feet in search of the vein, but without success. The engineer was dismissed, and last summer a new survey was made, when it was discovered that the draft was 48 feet off. A cross cut was then started, and resulted, about ten days since, in finding the true vein, since which time over 600 ounces of gold have been taken out. The largest pocket was discovered last Tuesday, weighing 25 pounds of pure gold. The company are making preparations to work the veins on an extensive scale. Quite a large quantity of quartz has already been taken out, which is a net profit of $40 per day.

Von Arnim.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

BERLIN, November 3.—Von Arnim made application for permission to leave Berlin to visit Carlsbad. The court refused. The movements of Arnim are subjected to the strictest surveillance by the authorities. It is learned from reliable authority that one or more prosecutions are on foot. Arnim's case will be investigated by the crown at an early day.

LONDON, November 3.—It is reported that copies of the missing letters of Bismarck to Arnim have been sent to the morning papers here, and will shortly be published. It is expected that these documents will throw new light on the subject.

France.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

PARIS, November 3.—The new army bill, introduced by the government, provides for raising a total force of 240,000 men. The French vintage for the present year, is highly successful, and amply compensates last years' poor growth.

Due de Broglie published a letter denying ever having any communication of Arnim's regard the attitude in Germany, towards Theirs at the time of his downfall, and reflecting how such attitudes could contribute to that result, as will be seen from the following extract from his report.

Reducing the Police Force.

[By Telegraph to the Constitution.]

OTTAWA, ONT., November 3.—The government has decided to reduce the Manitoba mounted police from 840 to 200 men. The peaceful state of the country, and the efficiency of the force, warrant this reduction.

A convention of the members of the different governments of four eastern provinces is being held here this week to discuss immigration matters, with the view of adopting a uniform system as regards immigration from Great Britain

An Ovation.

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 3.—The Prince and Princess of Wales are expected to visit the city. There will be a public ovation in their honor. The citizens' committee and civil functionaries will meet them at the depot. The streets are decorated, and a grand royal display will take place in the evening.

A PATRIOT GONE.

The Unexpected Death of Hon. Dunlap Scott—His Funeral—Large Attendance of the People—His Remains Followed to Myrtle Hill by a Large Procession

[Rome Courier.]

Since the last issue of the Courier went to press this community has lost one of its truest men, and the gloom of sorrow has pervaded every heart. Nor is this keen sense of sorrow confined to Rome and Floyd county, but doubtless extends to the utmost limits of Georgia, because in the death of Dunlap Scott the state has lost one of its truest defenders—a man who bravely and defiantly breasted the storm of radicalism and corruption, usurpation and oppression, when it required the sternest manhood to do so. Never can the true people of Georgia forget the invaluable services our deceased friend rendered the state in the days of the Bullock regime and radical rule when he stood in the Georgia legislature and defended their rights and liberties. In the great fight against the plunderers of oppressed old Georgia, Dunlap Scott was a faithful and true leader, and manfully did he combat the measures of the thieves and robbers who held clenched hands upon the throats of the people.

On Friday night last while a large number of the democracy, together with the silver cornet band, were welcoming Gen. Gordon and Col Dabney to Rome, and all were in joyous glee, the news was received that Capt. Scott was dead. It was about 11 o'clock. It was so unexpected, so sad, that all further rejoicing was suspended, and every one stood aghast with the sorrowful intelligence. Capt. Scott had only been confined to his room for two or three days, and none supposed his end was near. Indeed, a physician was not called until the evening of his death, but he rapidly sank and all that was left of the patriot and statesman was his lifeless remains.

When the news spread over the city on Saturday morning, it created a pall of gloom upon every heart, for it was the shadow of death of one of Rome's truest men. The bar of the city met, together with the officers of the court, in the evening, when Judge Underwood was called to the chair, and R. R. Harris appointed secretary.

Agreeably to a motion offered by Col. D. R. Mitchell, and adopted by the meeting, to appoint a committee of five to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings occassioned by the death of Hon Dunlap Scott, to be reported to an adjourned meeting, the chairman appointed as said committee Col. D. R. Mitchell, Col. T. W. Alexander, Hon. A. R. Wright, Hamilton Yancey, Esq., and Maj. R. T. Fouche,

Col. T. W. Alexander moved that the members of the bar and officers of the court attend the funeral, in a body, from the residence, which was unanimously agreed to.

Col. J. I. Wright suggested the appointment of eight pall bearers, which suggestion, meeting the approbation of all, the chairman appointed the following gentlemen pall bearers: J. I. Wright, J. H. Lumpkin, A. E. Ross, Hamilton Yancey, Halstead Smith, Captain C. N. Featherston, Maj. R. T. Fouche and Capt. J. Reece.

On motion, adjourned to meet at the court house immediately upon the organization of the superior court, on next Monday.

The funeral took place at the Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, where were assembled a very large audience to pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased. The body of the church was completely filled, while the spacious galleries were filled by a large number of people.

As the body was brought into the church, the organ, in low and solemn tones, rendered a funeral dirge. Rev. Mr. Axson then read the beautiful and sublime burial services of the Episcopal church over the remains, and delivered a fervent extempore prayer, concluding with the benediction. The remains were then replaced in the hearse, which were followed to Myrtle Hill cemetery by one of the largest funeral processions ever seen in Rome, and the remains of the brave and chivalrous Scott were solemnly laid away just as the sun sank behind the Myrtle Hill cemetery, and many tears were mingled with the dust where our friend sleeps his last sleep!

Capt. Dunlap Scott was born in Madison county, Ga., June 20th, 1831, and received a thorough education at the University of Georgia. In 1858 he moved to Floyd county, where he has ever since resided, and in 1860, studied the law under Judge R. D. Harvey, at Rome, and was admitted to the bar during the same year. In politics he was originally a whig, and after the dissolution of his party in 1854, joined the American organization. In 1860, however, he coalesced with the state rights democrats, and advocated the secession of the southern states, when the result of the presidential election became known. Supporting his words by deeds, as early as April, 1861, he entered the confederate service as a lieutenant in the 8th Georgia infantry, commanded by the lamented Bartow. He was subsequently promoted to the rank of captain, and served gallantly on the battle field until the surrender of Lee's army. Returning to Rome in 1865, he resumed the practice of his profession, meeting with marked success. He also engaged actively in politics, and in April, 1868, was nominated by the democracy to represent Floyd county in the state legisla ure, and elected by a handsome majority. From the opening of the session, Captain Scott took a prominent and influential part in the deliberations of legislation of the house. He introduced the famous minority report of the committee on privileges and elections, declaring the negroes elected to the legislature ineligible to office and vacating their seats. After a fierce struggle, Captain Scott succeeded in carrying the measure, and the negroes were expelled. This action of the house was the pretext on which congress reconstructed Georgia, and the subject of this sketch was one of the fortunate few among the democrats who were not turned out of their seats by Governor Bullock and the military authorities. During the long session of 1870, memorable for the grossest extravagance on the part of the legislature, Captain Scott was the recognized leader of the democratic minority. He delivered numerous able speeches and fought the majority with such ability that the press of the state abounded in praise of him. He was successful in carrying several important measures, including the bill to lease the State railroad. Originally the project of leasing the road was not approved by him, but he finally became convinced that unless this was done the state would lose the entire property, as there were several schemes afloat to get possession of it. Two bills were, in part pending on the subject. One appropriated $50,000 over and above the profits of the road to be expended in repairs and refitting. The other provided for the leasing of the road for thirty years, Governor Bullock to have the power to name the price to be paid by the lessees. In addition, the lessees were to have the right of purchasing the road at any time for $5,000,000, in payment of which the governor was to be compelled to receive the depreciated bonds of the state at par. In view of these facts, Captain Scott introduced his bill and succeeded in having it adopted. On the expiration of his term the democratic nomination was tendered him by acclamation, but was declined because of his desire to devote his time to the legal profession. Captain H. A. Gartrell was accordingly nominated and elected. He, however, died shortly before the meeting of the legislature, and, at the earnest solicitation of many friends, who united in a written memorial extensively signed, requesting him to serve, Captain Scott consented to become a candidate for the vacant s at, and was elected over three independent democrats by some six hundred majority. Personally, he is one of the most social and companionable of men. He has been twice married. In 1857 he married Miss Virginia Wray, of Athens, who died some years after, leaving two children. In 1870 he married Miss Mary M. Jones, of Mississippi. After a brief and happy wedded life, this estimable lady died, leaving an infant. And on the 30th day of October, he was married to Miss Mary O. Montgomery, of Augusta, a sister of Judge W. M. Montgomery, lately of the supreme court of Georgia, and of Col. Montgomery of this county, who survives to mourn the death of a noble husband.

Capt. Scott leaves three children—two by his first wife and one by his second. To his bereaved family we extend our most sincere condolence in their sad bereavement, in which thousands of the people of Georgia will join, beyond all question

THE VERY LATEST RETURNS!

GEORGIA.

First District.

SAVANNAH, November 3.—Chatham county gives Hartridge, democrat, about 1,500 majority. Democratic majority in the first district is estimated at 3,000. No reports of disturbances.

Glynn County.—Hartridge 120; Bryant 515.

Ware County.—Hartridge 182; Bryant 68. Graham, Hartridge 82.

Wayne—Jessup.—Hartridge 138; Bryant 73.

Chatham.—Hartridge 3418, Bryant 131. Hartridge's majority 2,100.

Second District.

CAMILLA, November 3.—Smith's majority in Mitchell county is 250. No collisions. Everything passed off quietly. United States Marshal W. H. Smyth was present to keep order and make arrests. Nobody intimidated or frightened Brimberry looks like he had no hope for the future.

Baker county will give Smith 300 majority.

Whitely's grave was filled up with democratic tickets. J. M. B.

CAMILLA, November 3, 8 P. M.—Mitchell county gone democratic by three hundred majority. All quiet. Nobody hurt. J. H. S.

DECATUR COUNTY—BAINBRIDGE, November 3, 10 P. M.—The fight here has been the hottest on record. Owing to the importation of several hundred votes from Miller, Mitchell and Early counties, Whiteley's majority in Decatur is 293. But for this he would have been badly beaten. RUSSELL.

ALBANY, November 3.—From the best information we can get, we confidently estimate Smith's majority over Whitely at 500. D. H. P.

Dougherty county—ALBANY, Nov., 3. Election passed off here quietly. Whitely gets a heavy majority in Dongherty, but Smith is probably elected by over one thousand majority. As far as heard from Smith is ahead. No riots or disturbances of any kind up to this hour. Great enthusiasm among democrats, and a general jollification among all classes of our honest citizens. Threats and intimidations used generally by the radicals to keep their troops in line. Let the state rejoice with us. CENTRAL CITY.

Third District.

General Cook's majority in Macon county is 260. His election by a large majority is certain. W. H. W.

MORGAN COUNTY—MADISON, November 3, P. M.—The election passed off quietly. O'Neal's majority at Madison is 175. Three precincts to hear from. All democratic. MORGAN.

MASSACHUSETTS.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—A private dispatch from Boston, indicates the election of Banks over Gooch in the 5th district.

BOSTON, November 3.—Bank's majority is estimated by his friends now at fully 5,000 in the 5th district over Gooch, who had a majority in 1872 of 4,459. 40 towns estimated by the Traveler give a net gain for the democrats, 1,593. The Journal gives in forty-four towns, Talbot 8,035 and Gaston 7,239. The same towns last year gave Washburn 6,579 and Gaston 4,234.

WASHINGTON, November 3.—The telegrams here, indicate the defeat of Butler in the 6th Massachusetts district.

BOSTON, November 3.—Twenty-three towns give Talbot a majority of 1,031, out of a total of 7,153 votes, about the same as last year. So far in the 2d district Harris, republican, has a majority of 254 votes in seven towns. In the 1st district Buffington, republican for congress, has a majority 1,303 in ten towns out of a total of 2,401 votes. The republicans fear for the result in the 8th district. Williams is not receiving as heavy a vote as necessary in the 7th district. Ayer has a slight lead and a good prospect. It is believed that Gen. Banks is elected in his district. Medford gave 715 votes for Banks; 390 votes for Gooch. Waltham at 2 P. M. gave Banks 702 votes Gooch 281. Worcester gives Gaston, democrat, for governor 4,010, Talbot, republican 3,326 votes.

BOSTON, November 3, 8:30, P. M.—Eighty-seven towns up to this hour return for Talbot 26,252; for Gaston, 24,291. A private dispatch to the Advertiser, from Essex, says it is undeniable that Butler is defeated by a thousand majority, if not more. Pierce, a republican, is elected in the second district by a majority of 1,742, with his own ward to hear from yet. The congressional situation is summed up, up to this hour—8 P. M.—as follows, by the republicans: Chapin, democratic, of the 11th district, was elected by a large majority; Ayer, republican, of the 7th district—doubtful; Williams, republican, of the 8th district—doubtful; Hoar, republican, of the 9th district, was elected; Frost, representative, of the 4th district—doubtful; Banks, independent, of the 5th district, was elected by a large majority; B. W. Harris, republican, of the 2nd district, and A. Buffington, republican, of the 1st district, are elected beyond doubt. The democrats already claim the state for Gaston, and the republicans are waiting for further returns. So far Talbot is ahead.

BOSTON, Nov., 3.—The returns thus far received indicate that Buffington in the 1st congressional district, and B. W. Harris in the 2d congressional district are elected beyond doubt. Ayer, for congress was defeated in his own town, Lowell, by a majority of 187. Sixty-three towns now give Talbot 15,442, and Gaston, 14,090. Last year the votes in these towns was, Washburne, 12,678 and Gaston 7,255.

BOSTON, November 3—10 P. M.—The Journal gives the vote of 159 towns, viz.: Talbot, 43,668; Gaston, 40,946; with Boston not included, and concedes six thousand majority to Gaston in this city. It says unless the back towns come up nobly before morning the result will be the election of Gaston and defeat of all the republican candidates for congress except Pierce, Harris and Buffington. The Herald says that Ayer is undoubtedly defeated by Tarbox, democrat, for congress. The republicans have elected so far thirty-six state representatives and two senators, and the democrats fourteen representatives and three senators.

BOSTON, November 3, 9 P. M.—Ninety-nine towns without Boston give Talbot 24,519; Gaston, 21,095. The same towns last year gave Washburn 19,184; Gaston, 10,818 majority. Butler is still falling. At Salem he was nearly a thousand behind his ticket, and his defeat is overwhelming. In the 7th and 8th congressional districts, as near as can be figured out, Williams and Ayer are both about a thousand behind the democratic candidates. At this hour the streets are full of jubilant democrats, who persist in the belief that Gaston is elected.

SPRINGFIELD, October 2.—A very heavy vote is being polled to-day, which will give large democratic gains. Springfield will give Gaston from 800 to 1,000 majority.

BOSTON, November 3.—One hundred and twelve towns give Talbot 29,666 and Gaston 27,780, against last year, 23,350 republicans, and 15,439 democrats. This does not include Boston, Worcester and Lowell. The Traveler, republican, concedes the state to Gaston, as this city will give him a majority of from 6,000 to 7,000. This seems to be the general opinion, though the closing vote may change the result.

BOSTON, November 3—The vote of Hull is Gaston 10 and Talbot 10. As goes the Hull so goes the state—The Bay state adage in politics.

DISCONSOLATE MILLS!!

How He and His Beloved Wimpy Were Invited to Leave a Negro Church.

On Monday night the immortal Mills called his clan together to juggle, to plot and to plan. The evil day of the election was nigh. All was dark and gloomy. Washington looked ten thousand miles away. They were all faint and sick at heart. They sat long and none broke the silence. Men of fertile resources as they all were, yet not one of them was equal to the occasion. The conclave was about to be disbanded; the conspirators were about to disperse, and each was preparing to seek his den in silence and sorrow, when some great soul among them swelled with a new idea. There was yet hope! All was not lost! Their true and tried friend, the negro, yet remained. and this great soul was swelling with contemplations of his fidelity. The owner of this great soul, of which we have spoken, proceeded to give his reasons for the hope that was in him and endeavored to cheer his drooping comrades. There was to be a large negro meeting at a church in the city, and what could be easier than to resort thither, and by the witchery of eloquence, move the dusky crowd to action. This idea, like all great thoughts, appeared very simple when once announced. It took finely. It brought new life with it. Mills faintly smiled. Wimpy clapped his hands in triumph. It should be done at once. But here, a difficulty arose. The chieftan was not a clever man with words. His tongue was thick and his speech slow. A remedy was found. Moses was a stammerer and so was Mills. But as Moses had an Aaron, who could speak well and move the people; so Mills had a Wimpy, whose tongue was oily enough to deceive the unsuspecting darkies.

Wimpy then was to be the orator of the occasion, Mills was to lend the dignity of his presence and the other conspirators were to come and see his triumph. All was ready and they set out for the SCENE OF ACTION.

Wimpy and Mills walked to show the simplicity of greatness. Some of the clan were mounted on richly caparisoned steeds and organized into a body guard. They reached the church in safety. It was full of colored troops. If they could fire this large assembly with holy zeal how easy would be the victory. Mills tapped his spokesman on the shoulder and prudently advised him not to stir the sea too deeply. To produce enthusiasm, not frenzy. Fury sometimes fails where deliberation is powerful.

After remaining a few minutes, the clan announced the purpose of their visit. It was soon whispered all over the church. For a while silence reigned. The minister then arose, and had the audacity to state that he could not allow the distinguished orators to speak in his church. The negroes came there to worship, and they should not be disturbed. As soon as this sentiment was uttered, a loud murmur of approbation ran through the whole crowd. Mills and his clan were stupified. This murmur fell on their ears like a death knell. The excitement of the negroes increased. Several rose to speak, but the conspirators

WAITED TO SEE NO MORE.

They fled in confusion. Mills lost his orator, and was left alone. The body guard mounted their steeds, and were soon far away. All was confusion. Across a distant hill a large body was seen slowly moving. The arms were crossed like Bonaparte's. The head was hung in sad meditation. Thus retreated the great Mills. His comrades had fled before. He was alone—but not in glory. His great plan had failed, and he was again in despair. Peace to his bones! May he soon see the time when he shall suffer no more such disgraceful expulsions from negro churches, but be allowed the most honored seat in them all.

WHY is coal cheaper this season than last? because of the immense amount received at a low rate of freight by J. F. Edwards' during the summer, and he is dividing this advantage with his customers.

Current Notes.

—The sun was occasionally muffled in clouds yesterday, and weather prophets predict rain.

—A few colored people quarrelled with one of their number yesterday for voting for Candler, said that he was a poor "bolter," a traitor to his party.

—A very beautiful basket of flowers, in marble, has just been completed at the yard of Mr. William Gray. It is intended for the grave of an infant of Mr. Inman's, of this city.

—The results of the elections in this county will prove to the radicals that their candidates for congress has an unhappy disqualification to one of his legs—in other words, he is "a lame duck."

—A countryman and his wife amused quite a crowd in the neighborhood of a popular dry goods house in this city yesterday. The husband refused his better-half money to purchase a pair of shoes, and she gave him a regular tongue-lashing.

—Old Dr. Johnson remarked, "All the performances at which we look with praise and wonder, are the results of perseverance." With only one place to vote in the city yesterday, this same perseverance was the only way to help make a congressman.

—The book of Ecclesiastes says: "The bee is little among such as fly; but her fruit is the chief of sweet things." The reporter is reminded of the above yesterday, upon examining some beautiful honey sent to this city from the upper part of Hall county.

—To see if any of the colored men under took to "report" yesterday; certain parties were on the look out, and as the voter passed a little list cotton was rubbed on his back. There are more things in heaven and earth horatio, than are dream't of in your philosophy.

—Merchants and business men in the city, report trade as being very good at present, and state that there is a good improvement in collections. We hope that there will be greater prosperity to the men of business, a more active circulation of money, a greater demand for goods, and busier times in our workshops.

—Qualification has but little to do, so far as intelligence is concerned, when applied to many who cast their votes for congressmen yesterday. In looking "along the line," it was evident that various sovereigns did not know whether the earth is a cube or a sphere, and could not have told whether Jerusalem is in Asia or America.

—A man in his shirt sleeves, and plainly dressed, seeing rather an elderly lady somewhat perplexed, at the Whitehall street crossing, yesterday afternoon, politely advanced and took her hand, and respectfully aided her over to Maddox's corner. We did not learn his name or residence, but only know that "a man's a man for a' that."

—This dusty, dry weather, some complained yesterday that the drinking saloons were all closed. Their thoughts were intent on champagne, so fresh, crisp and sparkling, sending up a thousand little beautiful silver specks from the bottom of the goblet. Others would think of a ripe and old article, which in mellowness resembles the dreamy soul of a German philosopher. Yet all acknowledge the law of closing up to be a good one.

—On our streets, and in our shops are many standing listless and idle, waiting for some rare opportunity; such as may occur but once in an age, and then but for a single individual, to do some marvelous deed which shall at once crown them by a single sudden stroke with illustrious distinction, and secure for themselves ease, luxury, and lasting fame. This is a mistake. To do, and do well the duties of the present is the only preparation for the larger, more responsible and more fruitful duties of the future.

—The reporter saw a little boy at West End yesterday amusing himself playing with a fly. His mother seemed to think that it gave evidence of a weakness in the region about the eyes. Best not always judge hastily of such things. The twitching of a frog's legs was the germ of the electric telegraph. The tiny ship worm taught sir Isambert Brunel how to form the Thames tunnel. And a spider's web suggested to Sir Samuel Brown the invention of suspension bridges.

—This reporter expected to furnish quite an item to the readers of THE CONSTITUTION in this issue, but disappointment, though frequently of an agreeable character, is sometimes the lot of even newspaper men. About one o'clock, Tuesday morning, as he ascended to his office parlor on the second floor, and like a decent gentleman of steady habits, prepared to retire, having reduced his costume, and was on the point of extinguishing the tallow dip, which answered the purpose of chandelier to his apartment, he became conscious of a strong smell of fire. Upon rushing out and tracing it up, he found an old colored gentleman on a lot in the neighborhood burning trash, and among it an old shoe. We wished the old man no harm, yet hope that he did not find an opportunity to cast his vote yesterday.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

Her People, Fair, and its Incidents.

Mr. Stephens on Louisiana.

Shooting and Cutting in Sandersville, etc.

Washington county has always occupied the proud position of being one of the most prosperous sections of our state. The thrift of its inhabitants is noticeable by a traveler as soon as he enters the county, and beggars are an infliction out here unknown. This is a great cotton county. The exhibition of cotton at the recent fair was remarkably fine, and showed very plainly the source of most of the people's wealth.

Sandersville, the county site, is a flourishing town, whose ambitious inhabitants claim for it a population of 2,000 souls. It is located two miles from Tennille, the nearest railroad station, and in consequence thereof, is almost entirely excluded from the bustle of the world, as well as a good deal of its wickedness. It is a quaint old town. The buildings appear to be almost a hundred and fifty years behind the times in architecture, but when one gets inside, he very soon realizes that they are nearly the same distance ahead of the times in comfort. The town is mostly level, the streets wide, regular and well covered with foliage, and the lots spacious. It contains one of the finest brick court houses in the state, a new and handsome school house, and a generous supply of churches, also a number of flourishing merchants, and a plenty of doctors and lawyers, equally flourishing. It furthermore enjoys a perfect absence from insurance and lightning rod agents. The hospitality of the Washington county people is proverbial. When the visitor leaves their generous community, he does so with feelings of genuine regret, and yearns after the good things left behind for a long time.

THE JOURNALS.

Sandersville supports two weekly papers —"The Herald and Georgian," and the "Gazette." Both are good papers, and doing well. The latter published a spicy little daily during the fair. To both of these offices the representative of THE CONSTITUTION is under obligations for courtesies.

THE FAIR.

On account of its well-to-do people, and its usually splendid crops, the Washington county fairs have always been a success. The last has not fallen behind its predecessors, and while the articles on exhibition were scarcely as varied, the defect was more than balanced by an increased attendance. The fair opened Thursday morning, and lasted until Saturday night. On Friday over two thousand people were on the ground, and on Saturday a slightly smaller number. The display in cotton was magnificent. We saw for the first time samples taken from hands yielding from one and a half to three bales to the acre. The plants were immense, over four feet in height, were so profusely covered with bolls as to look like heaps of snow. For cotton old Washington has demonstrated that she can't be beat.

A number of fine stock were also upon the grounds, embracing several blooded horses from Jones county.

Racing and trotting matches took place every day, but no unusual times were made, as most of the hors s sadly needed training.

The hogs and chickens were very large, and the exhibition of corn, wheat, oats and other grain was as fine as any we have ever seen.

A big demonstration was also made in the line of pickles, preserves, home-made wines, cotton goods, pictures, wax and flower work, etc.

Taken altogether the fair will compare most favorably with any county fair in this state.

MR. STEPHENS ON THE SITUATION.

Friday afternoon, Hon. Alexander H. Stephens addressed an audience of over two thousand people. His speech provoked but little enthusiasm, as it was almost entirely devoted to Grant's course in Louisiana. His leading thought seemed to be that when our people made an issue with Grant, it should be a sound one. That it would be a great misfortune to plant themselves upon one that could not be sustained. He entered at length upon an argument supporting Grant's Louisiana interference, and attempting to demonstrate that the President could not act otherwise than he did. He thought the civil rights bill was designed to force negroes into white schools; discussed the centralizing tendency of the party in power, and urged a steadfast adherence to the Jeffersonian democracy. He gave the negroes present some very capital advice, and closed with a beautiful prophecy as to the future of our state, provided we stand by the principles of our fathers.

The address occupied an hour and a half, and was in power and eloquence, worthy of the great orator. The people, however think it unfortunate that Mr. Stephens should have shouldered Grant, even to the extent he does, at this particular juncture, when there is no necessity for it. They will not hold Grant guiltless for his Louisiana action, and no amount of argument can convince them to the contrary.

THE BALL.

A grand entertainment was given in Sandersville Friday night by the young men, and was graced by enough beautiful girls to show that Washington county is as bountifully supplied in this as she is in other respects. A band from Macon was present, the toilettes lovely, the young men plentiful and attentive, and the dancing was prolonged until nearly day.

SHOOTING SCRAPE IN SANDERSVILLE.

Saturday afternoon, a negro named Green Stone was shot and instantly killed in the town by the deputy marshal, William Herrington. It seems that Herrington was endeavoring to arrest a negro named Lungmade, and upon his resisting him, Herrington drew his pistol and fired. The ball struck Langmade's cheek, and glancing from it entered Green's eye, and lodged in his brain. About eight o'clock that night, Herrington got into a fight with a Mr. Alford, on the steps of a saloon, and cut him severely about the head with a knife. Alford made good time getting away, or there might have been another killing.

An inquest was held over the negro on Sunday, and a verdict returned against Herrington. He, however, had cleared out, and has not been found.

Sunday night the gin house on the place of Colonel Lee Warthen, three miles from Sandersville, was set on fire and burnt with fifteen bags of cotton and a quantity of cotton seed. It was clearly an act of incendiarism. These unfortunate incidents will be strictly investigated by the authorities.

Fulton Redeemed.

The Military Summoned by the Radicals to Overawe Democrats.

Crowded Polls and a Heavy Vote.

Candler Gets 2000 Majority

Scenes and Incidents.

Yesterday morning opened bright and beautiful. When the polls were opened the Deputy U. S. Marshal Spencer, with seventy-five or eighty sub-deputies ranged themselves around the polls, and formed the voters in line The "colored troops" soon massed and up to 10 or 11 o'clock they voted thick and fast, and it was impossible for a white man to get into the polls. About eleven o'clock a personal altercation occurred between a deputy U. S. marshal named Jones and Sam R. Hoyle. Jones threatened to strike Hoyle when Hoyle knocked him down, and expecting an attack on the other drew his pistol. The disturbance was soon quelled and the line broken. Voters then began voting pell mell. Around the polls presented a busy, bustling scene until 6 o'clock P. M. It was a perfect jam and crash.

At the instigation of John A. Wimpey the military were sent for, and a detachment under Lt. Kline reached the spot. This summoning of the military was intended for intimidation and is clearly a violation of the enforcement act. But it was a bad move on the part of Wimpey, Mills etc., for the people would not be overawed. The news spread like wild fire through the town, and this with the appeals by circulars and in the evening CONSTITUTION aroused the people, and hundreds flocked to the rescue.

The masses gathered around the polls like bees swarming in spring time. Adventurous ones would clime over the backs of those in front and reach the polls in advance.

Cries rent the air of "hurry up, Mike," "make way for a sick man," "let a cripple man vote," &c. Frequently one could be seen with his ballot on a stick trying to reach it to the polls over the heads of scores.

A negro who sat on the fence with a Mills ticket in his hand, sang out to a white man in the crowd, "Let me vote this ticket?" "If you will vote my ticket you may have my place," was the rejoinder. "Good" said the darkey, tearing up the Mills ticket, and taking the man's place and his ticket voted for Candler. Scores of the colored people voted for Candler openly.

An attempt was made by Deputy United States Marshal Sheridan to arrest D. M. Queen for failure to discharge his duty as special deputy United States marshal, and Mr. Queen refusing to be arrested, a row ensued. Both parties were arrested for violating the city ordinances, and carried to the station house, where they gave bond.

Mr. Queen was arrested by another deputy and gave bond in the sum of $500.

Sam. R. Hoyle was also arrested and discharged on his own recognizance.

The following colored persons were arrested for illegal voting: Primrose Thomson, Tom Mitchell, John Johnson and Perry Carter. Perry was subsequently discharged, there being no evidence to sustain the charge. Scott Mitchell was arrested for voting a minor, and Governor Mitchell, for disorderly conduct at the polls.

A gentleman called during the day at Phillips & Crew's bookstore for note paper. He was shown some made by the Connecticut Valley Mills, but which bore on it the words, "C. V. Mills—Congress." The old gentleman looked at it and read, "C. V. Mills for congress; well, I don't want that sort of paper. Get me some white paper."

THE MILITARY AT THE POLLS.

About three o'clock in the afternoon, a detachment of some thirty-odd federal soldiers, of the second infantry, under command of Lieutenant Kline, made their appearance at the city hall. As the soldiers came up to the polls they were met by Mayor Spencer, who stated to the officer in command that he considered himself able to check any possible disturbance that could arise, but that he would himself let them know if their services should be required. He asked him until then to remove his soldiers from the city ground. The lieutenant replied that he was there only in obedience to a requisition from the deputy marshal made upon the commander of the garrison. He then removed his command across upon Hunter street, where they finally took a position upon the opposite corner and stacked their arms. They remained here for several hours but took no part by conversation or otherwise. It is but just to say that the soldiers behaved themselves with great circumspection and looked as if they would much rather be at their barracks.

Their presence proved to have a very opposite effect to what was intended. No sooner had their arrival been noised abroad than the democrats came out in crowds to vote.

JOSIAH SHERMAN MAKES A SENSATION.

Mr. Josiah Sherman, an adherent of the redoubtable Mills, mounted on a pie-bald horse, put in an appearance shortly after four o'clock and began moving among his colored voters, and opened a register of the names of all who would charge the democrats with keeping them from voting. He could have got a plenty of names from DeKalb county darkies, and others who wanted to vote twice, but the crowd found out what he wanted, and began cheering him lustily. Mr. Sherman, who could not understand a joke, and thought some sort of a violence was intended, retreated to the military for refuge, but not being received with open arms, he and his pie-bald horse retired in good order from the field.

The following is the result in Fulton county as far as heard from:

ATLANTA.

M. A. Candler	2,323
J. G. W. Mills	901

WEST END.

M. A. Candler	250
J. G. W. Mills	4

...S WHEAT.

We bent to-day o'er a coffined form,
And our tears fell softly down;
We looked our last on the aged face,
With its look of peace, its patient grace,
And hair like a silver crown.

Then we turned again to the clay-cold hands,
From life's labor at rest;
And among the blossoms white and sweet
We noted a bunch of golden wheat
Clasped close to the silent breast.

The blossoms whispered of fadeless bloom,
Of a land where fall no tears;
The ripe wheat told of toil and care,
The patient waiting, the trusting prayer,
The garnered good of the years.

We knew not what works her hands had found,
What roads her feet;
What cross was hers; what blackness of night;
We saw but the peace, the blossoms white,
And the bunch of ripened wheat.

DR. CALHOUN'S LIVER PILLS.

I AM engaged in the manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last 35 years, and has taken precedence over all other Family preparations by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supercede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 60 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incidental to this climate. With but few exceptions they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from druggists, merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yield readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.
Price 50 cents a box.
None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun. Address N. C. WILLIAMS,
Post-office Box 240, Atlanta, Ga.
Manufactory No. 118, corner Washington and Peters sts., Atlanta, Ga. mar14—dtf

DR. SIMMONS affirms that this is the very best Liver Medicine to which his name has ever been connected; and we know from the many testimonials that we receive, there is no medicine equal to it for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Chills and Fever, Bilious Croup or Wind Colic, Bilious, Sick or Nervous Headache, and for all other diseases arising from a disordered state of the Liver. For sale by Geo. J. Howard, J. A. Taylor, Thomas Fullum & Co., C. S. Newton and Theo. Schumann, Druggists, Atlanta, Ga. oct19—d3m

Cancers Can be Cured.
